2000Charge adds Brazil Payments

Alternative payment solution provider 2000Charge has added a new Brazilian Payment option to their product lineup. This payment method was developed by 2000Charge to make it easier for customers to pay online for products and services.

The Brazilian payment option gives merchants access to additional consumer markets that are generally not supported by other traditional online payment systems.

Brazil Pay allows online payments to be made using online banking through the consumer's own bank in a familiar, secure and simple way. Transactions are performed by the consumer within their own banking environment and takes only a few simple steps. Upon purchase, the funds are instantly debited from the consumers account. This serves as a huge benefit for domestic US-based merchants who restrict purchases with non-US payment cards, as they can now accept international payments that are guaranteed by banks with no risk of chargebacks.

"Sales for BrazilPay have skyrocketed since the its launch, and it shows how effective and important alternative payment options are," states 2000Charge CEO Wolf Kring. The options are easy to add to any e-commerce website, regardless of your location. BrazilPay is available to all consumers who are online banking customers in Brazil.
